

WILL DANCE HERE WITH BIG ORCHESTRA

Elsie Ferguson to Portray Famous Woman in New Play.

The attraction for the coming week at the Columbia Theater will be a comedy of early Washington life, "Dolly Madison," which will be presented by Elsie Ferguson in "Dolly Madison."

The play is a comedy pure and simple, and seeks to solve no problems or try any great historical story. The first act is laid in the boarding house of Dolly Todd, which was the name of Mrs. Madison before she married James Madison, the fourth President of the United States, in Philadelphia. The second and third acts are laid in the White House in this city, or as it was then called, the President's Mansion.

The fourth act takes place in Dolly Madison's house in Washington on the night of Aaron Burr's arrest. Dolly Madison is, perhaps, the most famous woman in Washington society. Miss Elsie Ferguson is thought to be especially well fitted to portray Dolly Madison.

NATIONAL—"Seven Days."

"Seven Days" is all fun. It is too funny to be told, but it is vastly funny to behold.

There is a New York critic's description of the comedy by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood that is coming to the National Theater next week.

"Seven Days" ran straight through last summer at the Astor Theater on Broadway, and is the only comedy that has ever done so. Wagenhals & Kemper are sending this play here with the talented New York company and an elaborate production. These managers are noted both for the quality of their plays and the manner in which they stage them. Therefore, "Seven Days," promises to be a laughing treat of the season.

BELASCO—"Daddy Dufard."

Comedy of the sort that causes a gulp in the throat is said to be plentiful in "Daddy Dufard," the Albert Chevalier vehicle in which the English actor comes to the Belasco Theater next week.

Chevalier's art represents the essence of refinement. Even his most humorous moments strike deeper than the laughter level. In this play which he and Lechmere Worrall have written, Chevalier plays an old French actor, who has come to New York to make a fortune. He is a man of letters, and his purpose in life is to place himself in a position of independence. He is admirably brought out in the three acts of the character comedy.

CHASE—"Polite Vaudeville."

Chase's next week promises to surpass past bills by offering Frank Keen and company, Dan Burke and the "The Seven Wonder Girls," the McGreevys, Jolly Fanny Rice, the Five Brown Brothers, Harry Howard's musical sheldand ponies, and equestrian dogs, the Dennis Brothers, and the daylight motion pictures of "Doctor Cupid."

Frank Keen, a genuinely great character actor, the original Jack Rance in "The Girl from the West," with good support, will present "Man to Man," considered a drama ably constructed and of absorbing interest. The McGreevys, the internationally noted singing and dancing comedians, and with the Seven Wonder Girls, a lively and lovely septette, will offer "At Lake Winnepesaukee," an all fresco whimsicality.

The McGreevys will bring a tale of laughter with "The Village Fiddler and the Country Maid."

ACADEMY—"No Mother to Guide Her."

"No Mother to Guide Her," from the pen of Lillian Mortimer, comes to the Academy next week.

Miss Mortimer has written a play which relates a story breathing human interest and discloses the struggle of a young girl who has not a mother's influence to guide her. It is a play of the preservation of her good name is enacted against almost overwhelming odds. The scenes are set in New Orleans, a dancer of exceptional ability, who, this season, is portraying the dances of Polaire, the Parisian artist imitated by Hammerstein.

LYCEUM—"Moulin Rouge Burlesques."

Little plot is contained in the two burlesques presented by "The Moulin Rouge Burlesques" announced for next week at the Lyceum Theater.

The show is constructed solely with a view to entertainment and to furnish opportunities permitting the introduction of as pretty and dashing a chorus of young women as has visited this city this season. The Lyceum comedian who knows how to be funny, leads the corps of laugh makers. The female contingent is topped by Violette Dusette, a dancer of exceptional ability, who, this season, is portraying the dances of Polaire, the Parisian artist imitated by Hammerstein.

GAYETY—"Rush's Bontons."

The attraction booked at the Gayety next week is Edward F. Rush's "Bontons," said to be full of snappy music and gingersy specialties.

The burlesque, "Mrs. Back Bay's Bontons College," is headed by James J. Lake, who is assisted by James Rowland, Percy Kelly, Michael, and Leo Leroy, and the feminine contingent is supported by Fannie Thatcher, Liddy Bette, and Mae Cahill, which go to make a strong cast.

The vaudeville numbers include the famous Dunedin Troupe, the world's greatest artistic acrobatic artists; Donagan Sisters, premier roller-skaters; Fannie St. Clair, the cyclonic subrette, and Glorice Martinez.

CASINO—"Vaudeville."

The feature act in the vaudeville bill arranged for the Casino Theater next week will be the Stewart Sisters and their escorts.

This offering is composed of a quartet of dashing young ladies, each with her escort—handsome young chaps dressed in fashionable attire. The assurance of this attractive act is similar to that of the famous "Florodora Sextet." Instead of one musical number, the Stewart sisters, Edith, Ethel, and Bert, offer a series of snappy songs, dances, and artistic groupings.

Sister Darrel and Earl will appear in a sketch entitled "Reconciliation," and Bernier and Coyette, European acrobats, offer a daring trapeze act. Ethel Goodwin, stinging comedienne, and the Bordier trio, blackface comedians and singers, also appear.

MAJESTIC—"Vaudeville."

Some of the acts announced so far for next week at the Majestic are Burrough and company in "The Black King;" Hines and Fenton, eccentric comedians; the Acacia Maginners, featuring "Prop," a dog aerial assistant; and Bert and Rose in roping, dancing, and sharp shooting.

The Majestic will show some of the latest pictures.

ter on Friday afternoon, March 10, is already well known here, having aroused great enthusiasm on former occasions. Mischa Elman is recognized as a virtuoso in his music, intelligence, and keen perception of musical values. He has prepared a remarkable program for his appearance here.

COLUMBIA—Newman Travel Talk.

E. M. Newman, who will deliver his illustrated lecture on Denmark on Sunday evening at the Columbia Theater, speaks of the regard of the Danish people for their monarchs.

Mischa Elman is recognized as a virtuoso in his music, intelligence, and keen perception of musical values. He has prepared a remarkable program for his appearance here.

NATIONAL—New York Symphony.

In an entirely new Bach-Wagner program of classic pantomime dances, to the accompaniment of the New York Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of its noted leader, Walter Damrosch, Isadora Duncan will return to the Columbia Theater next Tuesday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock, after an absence from the city more than a year.

In the interim, according to the reports which have reached here from Paris, where Miss Duncan has not recently closed an engagement with the Colonne Orchestra, her current offering exceeds in interest and artistic worth any of her previous attempts.
